Green Mountain Boy Plane Out Again on Trip Over Atlantic

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld., Aug. 25.—"Green Mountain Boy" was out over the ocean today, speeding eastward with Clyde Lee and John Bechman in the Van of this week's field of 16 aspirants for trans-Atlantic honors.

The red monoplane hopped off the Harbor Grace airport at 5:31 a.m. Eastern standard time, scheduled to land at Kellef Field, Ohio, after a flight of about 30 hours.

The plane carried 450 gallons of gasoline, enough fuel to keep it aloft for 37 hours.

AWAY IN SUNSHINE
Lee and Bechman got away in bright sunshine with a light west wind behind them. Weather reports for the first 900 miles of their journey were excellent. They were threatened with rain and head winds for a while after that, but the forecast was for clear skies on the other side.

Their 3,150 mile course lay over Dublin, Southern England and Cork, Ireland, Germany. They believed they were starting out with good weather reports for such a flight.

DEAN CORBETT M'GILL, SEES ONLY FAILURES

Famous British Economist Visions Success Only Technical

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 25.—The Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa was described largely as a relay race between the British and the Americans, initiated for the most part by Canada to bring the American government to the Hawley-Smoot tariff of the United States, by Dean P. C. Corbett of McGill University, yesterday.

Acting as chairman of a special committee on the conference, in connection with the Institute of Politics here, Dean Corbett, however, with Prof. John Henry Williams, Ontario University, said that the Ottawa agreements would not seriously disturb United States trade.

Prof. T. E. Gregory of London, distinguished British economist, endorsed the Ottawa agreement, representing the victory of "raw material countries over an old industrial country."

BOUND TO FAIL

According to Dean Corbett it was "clear from the beginning Ottawa was bound to be a failure from the economic viewpoint." As the time for the meeting approached, he said, "one encountered a much pessimism as optimism regarding the outcome. Canada had the vague general hopes while pessimists could prove by chapter, verse and table that there was not the slightest chance of effecting substantial and lasting betterment of empire trade by the methods proposed."

Dr. Gregory asserted "English politicians wanted the conference to preserve the coalition government. While the delegates wanted it to assure a protected market for their goods. The argument that British protectionist tariffs were imposed for the purpose of creating artificial barriers of other countries he described as a failure."

HAD TWO WEAPONS

Before the Ottawa conference, Dr. Gregory predicted, Great Britain had two great weapons for establishing world trade—moral prestige and ability to protect itself from foreign trade.

He said, "we lost them both and helped to kill world trade."

Of Great Britain's position at the coming world conference against tariff reduction, he said, "she is told she has no right, with her present position, to interfere with self-determination of other nations."

Prof. Williams, who is on the Harvard University staff, predicted that the Ottawa conference would be a retaliation against the United States tariff and that the United States tariff policy was "our supreme act of folly," and showed how it had adversely affected the world.

Canada, he pointed out, adopted retaliatory duties only "after a long struggle to get country to agree to reciprocity." The threat of the United States to withdraw further trade from Canada had been borne out, he said, on the contrary, the United States had increased Canada's access to its markets.

The Ottawa Conference might provide substantial benefit to the world, he said, but it was not, he said, "a necessary condition for reciprocal trade agreements and industrial recovery." He said, "the recovery of the world depends on Imperial preferences."

POUND MAY BE FIXED IN VALUE

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 25.—Dr. T. E. Gregory, British economist, said today that Great Britain is apparently preparing to fix the gold content of the pound at its present figure and never re-establish its old parity.

England's exchange policy of the last six months indicates, the speaker said, that it is anticipating results of fixing the pound at its current value.

Quebec Reduces Stumpage Dues

QUEBEC, Aug. 25.—Quebec government has today announced that it will reduce stumpage dues on logs and saw timber to 10 cents per cord, a "reasonable" wage, and that preference be given married men or those caring for families.

Ground rents are reduced from 85 per cent to 50 cents per cord, and pulpwood are cut from $2.50 per cord to 50 cents per cord. No provision was made for reduction in sawn lumber stumpage dues.

Reduction follows representations from the government of lumbermen.

Mrs. William Carson Hears of Conditions in Russia From Miss Lee, Just Returned From That Country

Jennie Lee, former member of the British House of Commons, who captured the hearts of many Edmonton people who met her here during her visit last spring, is home just now to Mrs. William Carson and her daughter Miss F. Carson, of Calgary, who were home in Locksley, Scotland, Mrs. Carson and Miss Carson have been spending the summer in Britain and on the Continent.

Mrs. Carson writes that they hope to hear another point of view regarding social and economic conditions in Britain and speak of a service in the City Temple in London, where she says her own aspirations found expression in Maude Hudson's sermon. Miss Carson declared that civilized people must learn to understand the point of view of others. Although it requires a great intellectual effort for different nations and classes to sympathize with each other, the effort must be made.

QUADRUPEL JOB KEEPS HER BUSY

Wife, Mother, Writer Adds to Duties as Field Representative

By LILLIAN CAMPBELL

Just four jobs. That is all Mrs. Eudora Richardson, Richmond, Va., has attempted to date, all at one time. She is wife, mother and author, and now has added her name to the ranks of office workers.

A field for field organization acquired in nation-wide campaign and developed during the World War, when she stepped the southern states urging war spending and prudent investments, has been called into play again in the interests of the nation's largest organization of business and professional women.

These activities have not prevented Mrs. Richardson from exercising her literary talents, and "Little Alice," a biography of Alexander Stevens, the "Fighting" Vice-President of the Confederacy, is the latest product of her pen.

None of her interests, however, even in literature, are studied gradations—she is allowed to transcend her duties for the happiness and welfare of a 13-year-old daughter.

WINNER OF PRIZES DIES

TEMPERATURES FOR FRYING

Test the temperature of the fat for frying with an inch cube of bread. For French fried potatoes it must brown in 40 seconds. Or if you are testing the fat with a thermometer, it should register 395 degrees.

If you are frying croquettes, fish cakes, small fish, eels or the like, the bread should brown in the same length of time, and the thermometer should register 390 degrees.

For fritters and doughnuts use the fat at a little lower temperature, allowing 80 seconds for the bread cube to brown. Or the thermometer should register from 360 to 370 degrees.

Candles Lend Mellow Glow To Farm Ceremony

Soft candlelight cast a mellow glow over Long Lake Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, on Monday evening when their eldest daughter, Annie Hoy Smith, became the bride of Mr. James Scott Lee, of the city.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a smart gown of beige georgette with matching small French model hat and carried Ophele roses. The bridegroom, Miss Hoy Smith, was in blue and grey crepe with large black hat and carried a sheaf of red gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. James Scott Lee were present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. P. Smith, the bride's minister.

Now then, girls, don't you go opening your mouth too wide or the minnows will get you. Marguerite Ingram's dad won Kansas City motor boat race. She's just hanging on behind and letting the Missouri river look after itself.

Linus, James Matern (left) and Major Bennett Griffin. American airmen, who recently crossed the Atlantic in record time and crashed en route from Berlin to Moscow, chatting to a bobby in London.

Which comes first—the hen or the egg? The bonus or the riot? This is (TOP) King Bonus, rooster mascot of California division of the bonus marchers. And what has he to crow about?

Put this one down on your list, too—girls flying Atlantic. Edna Newcomer is one of Dr. Leon Picault's co-pilots. She's going to a chute jump over Rome—when, and if, she gets there.

Cecile Uptown, half-sister of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who has just married Phil Perkins, former British amateur open golf champion. Honeymoon—Long Island, N.Y.

Now, now—mustn't! Mike Kostal, former circus lad, gets a baby leopard and a couple of lion cubs together at St. Louis zoo and hands them their first lesson in etiquette. Leopards and lions don't miss—much.

Ems Bogen (left), Hungary, and Helene Mayer, Germany, two of the world's outstanding women fencers, get together at Los Angeles before the olympic games. Taller they are—bigger they fall," says Miss Bogen.

This war veteran wouldn't walk and was disposed to fight, so a couple of burly detectives carried him, when the radical wing of the bonus army in Washington recently made an abortive march on White House.

There was a time when, if you retired to a monastery, you didn't get much excitement. Now—well—here's Villanova monastery, Philadelphia, on fire. All the nuns escaped—thirteen firemen injured.

Finish of 400-metre hurdles, won by Robert Tisdall, Ireland, in 51.8 second with Glen Hardin, United States, second. Tisdall knocked over a hurdle so is credited with breaking no records. Lord Burghley, Great Britain, is fourth.

You, too, may have grade A props. Alice Adair, Oklahoma, voted out to Hollywood in answer to a yelp for swell legs. Got the job, too. "Most expressive legs" was what they wanted.

AT RIGHT: Frances H. Marsalis (left), and Louise Thaden, noted girl fliers, at Valley Stream, N.Y., are out to bust women's retelling endurance flight record.

AT LEFT: Miss I. Hanchette, Inglewood, Calif., nailed the recent women's archery championship, 1932, at Seattle, to the post. Here's how.

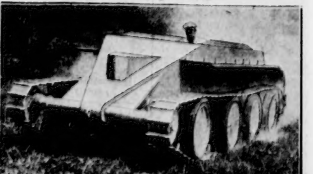

You're not safe—even on a battleship. "Dodo's" home. U.S.S. Utah, has been sentenced to be destroyed. They're rolling Dodo ashore here at Los Angeles.

Fire department surgeon reviving one of the firemen rendered unconscious during the fire which destroyed the Theatre Francaise in Montreal, recently. The unconscious fireman is Acting Chief Massett.

Francisco Rebledo, Mexican hammer thrower, spends his spare time at the olympic village teaching Gurni Singh, Hindu hockey player, how to play the guitar. Here are teacher and pupil at work.

Latest addition to world peace and happiness—a "flying tank" at Linden, N.J. It travels 110 miles an hour and can be hitched to an aeroplane. Pleasant.

And has he a swell line? C. P. G. Smith, aged 15, Windsor Country Boys' school, England, will represent his country in the international oratorical contest in Washington, D.C.

WHEAT VALUES REGAIN LOSSES ON WEDNESDAY

WINNEPEG.—Wheat values, after a steady decline from Liverpool and a fairly good start in the market, regained some of the losses sustained on Tuesday. Prices at the close were 1/2 to 1/4 higher for the week.

October closed 1/2 higher at 84 1/2. The market gained 1/2 to 3/4 in the week. Improved a little amount to 82 1/2.

Good strong in early trade, the market early received a tendency to swing upward. Opening is higher in un-expected wheat had gained 1/2 to 1/4. A break opened the trade. The market showed considerable selling in the morning opening and the buying was not so strong as the early export trade had been worked.

Refining premium was lighter than anticipated but there was another stage of selling of an undermilled stock which reached heavy proportions and which required an excellent deal of buying to offset it.

Report trade was disappointing but good buying order for the first time. Russia was reported in the first time. Many weeks. Only 14,000 bushels were cleared, however, and it was not enough to make any impression on the market.

Trade in the cash wheat and coarse grain was quiet with prices holding steady and no change.
